

thetagtimes

2023

It's been quite a while.

Why does this 2023 edition exist?

It actually doesn't exist. lol (may be cancelled)

That's a question we have pondered. During our primary school days, especially in P6, this newspaper was quite cool (in our opinion). It was sent out to our TAG class batch, put up on a class noticeboard, and it was a fun time writing it with our friends. After that, we went off to our secondary schools and this newspaper was abandoned. At the start of 2022, we still published a few issues, but they were mainly cringe, and no one read them. The Tag Times settled into more of a legacy. It was a newspaper, which needed TAG related news, something difficult to find in one month. We didn't really want it to be fully "dead", so at the end of the year, we did publish an issue, reporting on how 3 of us (Sean, Tenglong, Zixi) visited the West Coast Campus in December 2022. You can read it here.

After that, another year passed, which was actually not uneventful. (There were some events). The NHPS Junior Alumni were active in a few activities during the year, although this Junior Alumni was mainly limited to former GEP students. There were also some gatherings between former classmates during the year. Now, at the end of 2023, we have invited some of our friends, started a new The Tag Times issue, and we shall be sharing and reflecting on this year.

NHPS Junior Alumni

You might have heard of the NHPS Alumni Association

We are youth alumni

Mid-autumn, Homecoming, 25th anniversary lunch in June, P6 sharing, P1 orientation

We contributed to NHPS!! :D

Uh ok so

Writing in detail for Mid-autumn, P6 sharing, Homecoming (i think)

Mid-Autumn Festival

For those who joined NHPS in P4, we have actually never experienced an NHPS mid-autumn festival as students. It was cancelled in 2019 because of haze and then COVID happened for the next two years. Now that we are alumni, many of us returned this year to NHPS for the mid-autumn event. For some, it was more than just running around the school, as there were actually volunteers from the Youth Alumni helping (not very much) to plan certain parts of the event.

Thanks for reading our 2023 issue!

Hopefully, we'll publish our annual issue next year... but you never know

You can still find us at thetagtimes@gmail.com

Brought to you by
The Tag Times

- Zixi
- Tenglong
- Sio Huang

Here is an obligatory
This is kinda the end so yea.